

PRESS RELEASE

A CANADA FIRST: CLIMATE-FRIENDLY TRAVEL AT NO EXTRA CHARGE

Hume Travel launches FlyGreen.ca

Vancouver B.C., 04 December 2007

Hume Travel announces the immediate launch of FlyGreen.ca, Canada's first climate-friendly travel site for climate-conscious travellers. FlyGreen.ca is an online travel agency that makes a contribution to programs which offset carbon emissions.

One of the most serious issues facing everyone today is climate change, and most forms of transport are 'carbon culprits'. Using FlyGreen.ca, travellers book with WestJet or Air Canada (same low web fares, no hidden extras, no booking fees), and for each booking FlyGreen.ca contributes towards projects that prevent greenhouse gases from being emitted into the atmosphere.

"We are delighted to announce today's launch of our new FlyGreen.ca website," said Nicole Murcutt, Director of the program. "Travellers go through FlyGreen.ca to access the airlines' web links and book for exactly the same low web fares as booking direct. By booking through FlyGreen.ca they make an important contribution to carbon offsets and it doesn't cost them one extra penny!"

"We believe this is the first program of its kind in Canada," she continued "and are certain that travellers who used to book directly with WestJet or Air Canada will want to do so through FlyGreen.ca as of today."

The idea is simple but clearly effective: nothing changes for the travellers, except that they book their travel through FlyGreen.ca and have the satisfying knowledge they are making a contribution to carbon-offset programs at no extra cost.

FlyGreen.ca has partnered with Offsetters Climate Neutral Society, Canada's premier provider of high quality carbon offsets. "Consumers are increasingly aware of the climate impact of their own activities," said Dr. James Tansey, CEO of Offsetters. "People are looking for solutions, and FlyGreen.ca offers an excellent one. We are very excited to partner with FlyGreen.ca and believe that people will respond very positively to a company that puts its money where its mouth is."

The website, launched today, is supported by Hume Travel in Vancouver. Therefore, should travellers booking on FlyGreen.ca require a more complex travel arrangement, they can draw on the full support of Hume Travel consultants. "This way," said Ms. Murcutt, travellers get the best of both worlds: they either make a simple web booking at no extra cost, or they can rely on our full-service agency for help with more complex bookings."
